by federal reporters, but Secretary Wallace reiterated there was no danger of food shortage.

Wallace reiterated there was no danger of food shortage.

The drouth's ravages affected not only the grain crops, but directly or indirectly the entire food supply of the nation and cotton as well.

For example, the crop reporting board forecast that this year's production of corn would be only 1,607,108,000 bushels, a decline of more than half billion bushels over its estimate of conditions on July 1. The average yield of this important feed and food crop is around 2,506,000,000 bushels.

Wheat Estimate Increased.

The wheat yield, to the surprise of many observers, increased 6,000,000 bushels today over the July production. The estimate today was 490,960,000 bushels. But that figure is the lowest since the 1800's.

The dry siege, both directly and indirectly, is rapilly paring the nation's meat supply. Millions of cattle and sheep are being bought by the government, both because they are starving now from lack of feed and water and also because there will be no feed for them in months to come.

Plenty of Food.

But the secretary of agriculture, although visibly concerned over the too enthusiastic co-operation that the drouth has given the farm administration's surplus reduction campaigns, said that even though the customary supply of "sirloin steaks and pork chops" would be reduced next year; "there will be plenty of food to keep everyone in the best of health."

He said food prices would be higher, but he doubted the farmer would receive any larger proportion of the consumers' dollar for his products that he did in 1914.

Treasury Will Retain Certificates for Present as Profit; Inflationary Talk Lessens on Second Thought.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.-(P)-The treasury tonight disclosed that certificates were being printed against silver held in the general fund on the basis of the full monetary value of $1.29 an ounce

Approximately 62,000,000 ounces acquired in various ways including foreign war debt payments at a cost of around $46,900,000 are affected by the program announced in a formal statement tonight. The face value of the certificates an office, the statement said, although for the present they are being issued only in an amount equal to the metal's cost.

The certificates printed from seigniorage silver will be retained for the present by the treasury as a profit, but can be put into circulation whenever desired under the terms of the law.

The statement followed appearance of a $6,136,421 seigniorage item in the treasury's receipts as shown on its daily statement, with a corresponding gain in the value of silver bullion carried in the general fund.

The treasury explained that seigniorage had appeared in the statement heretofore, but had been included among the "other miscellaneous" receipts.

Returning to the capital one day after silver had been nationalized. President Roosevelt conferred with Secretary Morgenthau on future policies which apparently are aimed at an international agreement for a broader use of the white metal as a monetary base.

The president has said he believes an international monetary conference on both gold and silver would help the nations of the world. Whether his secretary of the treasury reported any progress toward the exchange parley was not disclosed.

Morgenthau, declining to discuss his parley with his chief, indicated the chief executive would shape future policies in the purchase program to make silver 25 per cent of the nation's monetary base.

Soon after his visit to the White House, the treasury secretary left for New York.

Second thought yesterday tempered the reactions to silver's nationalization which sent domestic markets soaring and observers to speculating about a world monetary conference Thursday.

Both inflation and a world parley on gold and silver values still were seen, however, as possibilities grow-sing out of the treasury's call for domestic stocks of the white metal. The psychological effect of the action lingered abroad apparently for Continued in Page 4, Column 8. DIES OVERNIGHT

PITTMAN CLAIMS VOTE OF FARMERS

Speaks at Blackshear Wyoming, Jacksonville; Upshur, Philadelphia. and Cochran.

BLACKSHEAR, Ga., Aug. 10 .-Resuming his campaign in south Georgia, Judge Claude C. Pittman, of Cartersville, one of Governor Eugene Talmadge's opponents for governor, declared here today that he would defeat Governor Talmadge "with the farm vote of Georgia."

"Georgia farmers for the first time in many years are finding money in their pockets. They are being shown a new hope, and a promise for prosperity and happiness that is due the man of the soil," he declared.

"Georgia farmers know whom they have to thank for the new prices—prices that the nation! farm program have boosted to more than double have boosted to more than double what they were a year ago.

"Georgia farmers have followed President Roosevelt. They no longer are following Eugene Talmadge, who during all his years as commissioner of agriculture and governor has not done as much for them as the president has in one day."

Declaring that the Georgia farmers "are not as easily fooled as Eugene Talmadge bhinks," the judge said:
"I'm going to beat Talmadge with the farm vote of Georgia, and he knows it. The greater the loss he sustains among the farming counties of Georgia, the harder he works in an effort to carry the large counties, the "street car counties," as he calls them."

ward, local businessman and a former class mate of Judge Pittman.

"Here is a man who has deserved and held the respect of his fellow man throughout his life," Ward said.

"He is qualified to be the governor of Georgia and he will bring a new dignity to that high office."

man," he said. "I believe, as does our national democratic administration, that there can be no happiness for a citizenry unless there is happiness and contentment among the masses of the people.

"By the masses, I mean the farmers and the laborers alike. A true square deal for one means a square deal for one means a square deal for the other. I do not believe that any Georgians with the interest of the state or with their interests at heart would try to turn one against the other."

Judge Pittman again scored the Talmadge claims that he has kept his campaign promises. "Talmadge says to the people of Georgia, "If you don't believe I've carried out my platform. I'll carry it out again," he said. "Yet he ignores ten and four-fifths of the twelve planks in his platform of two years ago, when he said the teachers of Georgia, the Confederate soldiers and their widows would be paid," "I say promptly as the governor is paid.""

It is regrettable, says Dr. McNamara, that the early cancer of the rectum causes so little pain, inconvenience or discomfort. News Behind the News

BY PAUL MALLON.

SILVER MUSIC WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 .- The best monetary critics always laugh when Mr. Morgenthau sits down to play the silver lute. After hearing his technically perfect rendition of "nationalization" they are still laughing.

For many reasons, they stubbornly decline to take the administration very seriously on the silver question. The reasons are not hard to find. No insider or outsider in Washington believes that Mr. Morgenthau (or, indeed, President Roosevelt, whom he accurately represents) is either a silverite or an inflationist. Their moves on silver are usually timed to meet some inflationary uprising in congress, and these moves have so far been wisely cautious. The latest one is also in that category.

EXPLANATION Three very natural reasons for the move are generally accepted in the Washington inner

One is the financial situation. There is nearly a billion and a half dollars in hoarding. The people who are hoarding it will rush to put it back into circuation if they think monetary inflation is The administration's silver move may encourage them to Another reason is Senator Thomas. He is the most persistent and annoying inflationist extant. A few days ago he conducted a poll of congress and announced that a majority of his colleagues have been disappointed with the administration silver policy. Na tionalization of silver is supposed to make him and his weeping colleagues dry their eyes and keep quiet for at least a few more

Also, don't forget that a warm congressional election contest is starting in western silver states.

Thus, three very big problem birds are supposed to lie down and roll over at the one big silver blow.

INFLATION These are rather shallow reasons, but you will find no deeper ones in the nationalization policy. All it means now is that the government is going to buy about $100,000,000 worth of silver in this country. (There are roughly between 150,000,000 and 200,000,000 ounces subject to seizure at 50.01 cents an ounce.) A hundred million will only be a ripple in the $5,000,000,000 monetary bucket. If that much new currency is issued, it will not be inflation or anything very near inflation. IFS The nationalization program becomes important from a national monetary standpoint only when you get down to soliloquizing about what Mr. Morgenthau will do next. If he goes out and tries to buy all the silver in the world at increasingly higher prices, he will reach inflation. Everyone here is certain he will not do that. There is another way. His purchases are being made at 50 cents an ounce, but silver is carried on the treasury books at $1.29 an ounce. (That book value has been kept since 1837 or there-Thus he is accumulating a theoretical profit from his silver buying policy. For instance, he buys three ounces of silver for $1.50. They have a potential treasury book value of $3.87, but Morgenthau has issued only $1.50 in currency against them so far. He stores the surplus silver and carries it on his balance sheet as of no value. That is good common business sense.

day he could take this silver profit out and issue currency against it for $1.29 an ounce. That would be inflation. However, the amount involved is so small, it really would not make much

CONCLUSION Add all this up and you find the nationalization song is not a song at all, but only a stop-gap, a prelude, a "vamp 'til ready." The administration can string it out for years and even centuries before it accumulates enough silver to stabilize on a 25 per cent ratio with gold.

Everything depends on how much world silver Mr. Morgenthau buys and how fast he buys it. The good guessers are betting he will not buy enough to keep

Senator Thomas quiet very long. COTTON It looks as if the AAA could take about 86 per cent of the credit for the low cotton crop. The drouth accounts for about 14 per cent.

The yield per acre dropped nine pounds below the average for the last 10 years. Normally you would not expect the yield to drop in the face of a crop reduction program. Last year, it went When a farmer plants fewer acres you can be sure he will raise all he can on the acres he does plant.

There were 27,371,000 acres in production this year. The normal crop from that would be 9,728,729 bales, or 3,319,000 bales less than last year. But the drouth drove it down 533,000 bales

The AAAers are now convinced calamity is in league with them.

The cynic would call that an appeal to sentimentality much like the old-fashioned evangelist's, but it is much more than that.

Here is the value that justifies it:

One who perceives and understands the truth is more intelligent than one who does not. You are at the fix you would be in if some taking in the sale in the position he will never have the gall to drive up to a strikers' meeting in a limousine and harangue a lot of cold and hungry men with cold and hungry families to stay in there and keen on taking if—there dispatches that the industrious types of workmen should not have to suffer for the cussedness of the habitual crab and wash-room lawyer who knows his rights and lays down his tools to argue about them on the company's time. The proposition was that in the event of a strike the employer should not be compelled to re-employ a hand who had shown himself to be the employer's bitter enemy. A man of this disposition, given back his job, might be expected to ruin expensive machinery, waste and destroy material and in all possible ways conduct himself as a menace to the interests of the firm. It was further proposed that the industrious types should not be asked to suffer along, maintaining a strike at great sacrifice to themselves to compel the reinstatement of the ornery character whose malevolent disposition threw them out of work in the first place. Arguing that it is a good idea to try to get along with people, instead of sulking, your correspondent used the sweet word charm and that was the word that poked up the row.

Exhibit A

The fact is, however, that the roof the dissenting vote is a man whose principal asset in his job is nothing else but charm. That would be President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has admitted from time to time that he and the New Deal were not sure of the answers and that they were certainly going to be awfully sorry if, in long run, the trick din't work.

Mr. Roosevelt has great charm in his woice as well as in his smile and a man less gifted with this quality, such as Mr. Hoover, might have been run out of the country before this if he had undertaken Mr. Roosevelt's program. Mr. Hoover owed much of his wee in office to his lack of charm and his inability to rock along with the statesmen and others who were in a position to oppose him. To with communication to propose him. To with the statesmen and others who were in a position to oppose him. To with the statesmen and others who were him to be with communication to the communication to the communication to propose him. It is part of a president's job to get along with congress and the people. The art of baby kissing is more to be reckoned with than scorned.

Gains of yesterday were lost by stocks, cotton and shares. Corn advanced sharply for a time but the drouth and not silver was given the credit. The bond market coasted. Government issues declined slightly. Secretary Morgenthau went to the White House after the president's return for a review of the economic situation, including monetary angles. WALL STREET PRICES

REACT ON SECOND DAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(P)—Wall Street's second thoughts on silver na-tionalization were more subdued to-day, and prices subsided in speculative markets.

Silver prices showed but little inclination to rise in foreign markets. A domestic price of 49 3-4 cents an ounce, up 1-2 cent from yesterday, and just under the price of 50.01 cents at which all silver not needed in industry must be turned into the mints within three months, was fixed by Handy & Harman, leading bullion brokers. The Shanghai market rose a little, but spot silver in London was unchanged.

a little, but spot silver in London was unchanged.
Shares, wheat and cotton reacted in the domestic markets, about cancelling yesterday's gains. Bonds remained under pressure, including United States governments. The dollar stiffened in foreign exchange dealings, however. After the close of European markets, sterling and the French franc receded to show small losses in New York.

Officials of New Manchukuo Confronted by Delicate Task

Prime Minister Points Out Need for Reconciling Oriental Idealism With Modern Practicali-

(This is the twenty-second in Mr. Clarke's series on the Far East.) By FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

HSINKING, Manchukuo, - (By Mail.)-The establishment of a sound constitutional monarchy; the improvement of internal conditions effecting the lives of some 30,000,000 people; the acceleration of the increasing appreciation of the Manchurians for their new government-these are the chief tasks to which the Chinese officials of Manchukuo, and their Japanese advisers, are directing themselves, according to Prime Minister Cheng Hsiao-hau, venerable Chinese scholar who has headed the cabinet of the new state since its creation.

Passive Resistance Peril.

If this passive resistance arises in Manchukuo—through the spread of idea that to accept the new government would be to lose "face," or for any other reason—then there is nothing but trouble ahead for Manchukuo. If, on the other hand, the people react favorably to the lower taxes, the improved public service and the stabilized currency already under way, there can be no reasonable doubt that there is a new empire in the making in this is a new empire in the making in this far-away corner of northeastern Asia.

The exact form of government which will be adopted in Manchukuo is still uncertain, despite the enthronement of Pu Yi as emperor last March. Premier Chean emire out the court of the still the stil

"The organization of the various departments of the government is not yet complete, nor is the constitution upon which the planned constitutional monarchy will be based. The question of a constitution that will properly meet the peculiar requirements of Mauchukuo and its people is now being studied by a commission headed by the president of the legislative council. We are not in a hurry about this step, because the most important things now are the improvement of internal conditions and the selection of good officials.

SENIOR POLICEMAN IN HOSPITAL AFTER TRIP TO LORRAINE

Steve Felder, 65, Atlanta's oldest policeman in active service, is at Georgia Baptist hospital recuperating from an operation performed last Sat-urday. Steve is smiling. He is happy, not only because attendants at the hospital say he'll be up and around soon, but because he has fulfilled a dream. Steve has revisited his fatherland, Lorraine, after an absence of 45 years, 39 of which were spent on the Atlanta police force. Though illness overtook Steve be-was necessary to hurriedly select those to head its various departments. Some of these officials were originally in some kind of government service in Manchukuo; good men there are, but there are bad ones also. We are now separating and examining them in order that the bad ones may not bring injury to the people.

"Fortunately, there is no psychological conflict between the people of China proper. It is only those in Nanking government circles who are hostile to Manchukuo. The kuomintang overthrew the monarchy and called itself a republic; in reality it is the dictatorship of a single party—the rule of the majority by the minority.

"The kuomintang party has never attained unity within itself, so how can it be expected to unify the country? All the present-day propaganda has come from ignorant youths or publications not conversant with the general situation in China. All the common people have suffered from republicanism; without organization themselves they have been oppressed by the government that is democratic in name

That done, the next task would be to destroy his letters. The thick bundle that she kept in her dressing table drawer, among her gloves and handkerchiefs. It would be hard, she told herself—but—it must be done! She and Kent were really through—she must destroy this frail link—she pulled open the drawer, with a little, almost vicious tug—and then she stared, wide-eyed, and startled. For the drawer no longer held a thick bundle of letters! A swift search of the dressing table drawers convinced her of the truth—the letters were gone!

Calissa was incredulous. Why can be served before he gets suspicious and gets out of town!"

"No!" said Calissa, feeling as though she screamed the word, though in reality it was little more than a harsh whisper, so tense was she with the rage and pain that shook her.

Gordon raised his eyebrows, his eyes growing cold and wary.

"No?" he reneated. "What do you mean by that?"

"I mean—that there isn't going to be any suit. Do you think I'd let you try to frame Kent?" cried Calissa unsteadily. "If he doesn't want to marry me, do you think I'm going to let you make him pay for changing

It was 10 o'clock and Kent awoke with an angry, throbbing head. He lay still for a long moment, trying to remember what it was that had waked him up, and then the telephone on the stand beside his bed shrilled loudly, again.

With an involuntary wince of pain, he sat up in bed and reached for the telephone, saying "Hello!" irritably.

That ring for which she had given up her job in Stanley Mills, and had come here—perhaps, if she had returned the ring to Mrs. Stanley in the beginning, things might have been different. She would not have lost her job—she would not have stumbled into anything like the dilemma in which, now, she found berself.

Studying the ring, she reached as sudden decision. She would send the ring back to Kent, and destroy his letters. She would put out of her mind, and the heart, any thought of him. She would find herself another job in Atlanta. And she would destroy the fairly who had been Calissa Logan, and who had loved Kent with all her heart.

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.

Months ago, I brought up the question in the corner as to whether or not sunflowers turn their faces east in the morning or west at night. I asked readers who were able to watch sunflowers this summer to let me know what they found.

Several leters on the subject have come, and they do not agree! Mrs. Sue Maxley writes:

"Yes, the sunflower does turn with the sun. I have watched them many a time, as I lived in the country all my early years. The sunflower faces the east in the morning and the west at night."

On the other hand, Mrs. Joseph Bradley writes:

"I did as you asked someone to do. I watched the sunflowers and found that some face east, others north, south and west. I have several on one stalk facing different directions."

Those are two of the replies. There are others which I may give later; but before writing again on the subject, I should like to have other readers tell me what they have learned. In the meantime, we may bear in mind that it is possible that different kinds of sunflowers act in different kinds of sunflowers has been behaving rather warmly this summer—

Refusal of Company To Pay Same Scale in All Plants Is Cause.

By the Associated Press. The aluminum workers' council called a strike effective midnight Friday at all plants of the Aluminum Company of America, to climax weeks of futile efforts to reach agreement.

The national labor relations board in Washington immediately announced it was standing by willingly to assist in arranging a settle-

American Federation of Labor officials said the strike was called as a last resort because the "company failed to make any concession to the workers' demands," including a universal wage system to give workers performing similar operations the same pay in all company plants. Meanwhile, in Minneapolis, the 25-day-old truckers' strike was still unsettled, but 2,600 employers have signed a peace plan fostered by federal mediators. A threat was made to resume

Relief Worker Brands "Deaf Mute" in Error

"Deaf Mute" in Error
Some time ago an elderly man came up to the registrar's booth at the Edgewood district office of the Fulton county relief administration.
When the social worker spoke to him he merely fumbled with his hat in response. Tacktfully meeting a situation she had encountered before the young woman gave him instructions through the medium of pen and paper and marked his card
"deaf-mute." He courteously answered her notes.

Last week the following conversation was heard between the "deafmute" and a fellow-applicant for relief.

"What's the matter with you?
Why did she write a note when you just came in for your next weeks grocery order?"

"I sure don't know," the client was heard to mutter. "Every time I come in here and even when they send people out to see me they always write notes. Is everybody that works here deaf and dumb?"

Charles C. McGehee Is Promoted by HOLC

Charles C. McGehee, special representative in the review division of the HOLC, has been elevated to the post of assistant regional manager for the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, it was announced Friday.

At the same time it was announced that the HOLC has made 8,193 loans in Georgia, disbursing a total of $18.090,792.58, according to George W. West, state director. Of that amount he said $1,530,000 was spent for home repairs and modernization and approximately $1,000,000 has been paid in back taxes.

repairs and modernization and approximately $1,000,000 has been paid in back taxes.

In announcing the promotion of Mr. McGehee, it was stated that Hugh B. Fleece, of Kentucky, will be director of the Atlanta regional office, and N. M. Patten, formerly of Macon, has been named regional counsel. McGehee is a native Atlantan and was an insurance and real estate man until he became associated with the HOLC regional office here last November. Plans are being made for the opening of the new Atlanta regional office within a month, it was stated.

No additional personnel will be employed to carry on the work of the Atlanta office but the government staff of workers who have been handling loans in Washington for this area will be transferred to Atlanta, it was said.

Establishment of the regional office is a part of the Redeval Home Owners' the Federal Home Owners'

Grocery Orders Cut By Relief Office Here

Grocery orders for families on the Fulton county relief rolls were re-duced approximately 20 per cent this week, it was revealed when the orders were received.

The reduction was made necessary.
it was said at Fulton county relief headquarters, by an insufficiency of funds to continue the former amounts. There has been a reduction, it was said, both in the federal funds and in the money supplied by the county and

It was admitted that this reduction is additionally unfortunate at this time when food prices are on the up-ward trend.

Feed Grain Shortage Exists in Germany

Dealers in firearms, which term includes gangster weapons such as machine guns and sawed-off shotguns, but does not include pistols or revolvers used in the protection of homes, must pay a government tax by August 31. W. E. Page, internal revenue collector, said Friday.

The time limit originally was August 10, but was extended because the necessary forms were not completed. Dealers affected by the tax should apply for these forms by August 31.

The tax on importers or manufacturers is $500 a year: dealers, $200, and pawnbrokers, $300. The tax is the result of a congressional act aimed at gangsters, and provides a means of checking the traffic in such firearms.

Mr. Page reiterated his warning to ing only cheaper qualities of bread grains for the time being.

"What has the depression done to my job?" is one of the questions that the members of the Rusiness and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., will consider when they meet at Blue Ridge, N. C., for the second biennial conference of the southeast region, August 16-19. Miss Nettie E. Brogdon, of Greensboro, N. C., is regional chairman.

A series of six round tables will look at the changes taking place in widely different fields of work, with a hope of opening new fields to women and for expanding the opportunities in those that are not overcrowded at the present.

Miss Brogdon has recently returned to North Carolina after spending near to North Carolina after spending near in Europe, where she devoted most of the rime to educational research work in Germany. Dear Miss Chatfield—For 12 years lived with a husband who drank to Dear Miss Chatfield—For 12 years I lived with a husband who drank to excess and made our home an unhappy place. Then he died. I grieved for him but I felt a sense of relief at his passing. Being free once again I vowed I would never get married, no matter what happened. But we never know today what we will do tomorrow because we don't know what tomorrow holds. Now here is my puzzling problem: I have had a position that paid me a poor living. It has been hard to make ends meet. I have been lonely. A neighbor whose wife died a year ago wants me to marry him. He is a good man and a dull one. My husband and I used to groan when he and his wife came to call on us. We laughed at him to our friends who felt about him much as we did. Of course there could be no romance between us but the thought of being able to quit work and settle down once again to keep house and putter around my garden makes my heart beat faster. What chance has a woman for happiness when she regards marriage as a business proposition?

Answer—A woman's chance for happiness in marriage under such conditions depends upon several things: it. Put the corn in when the water

Lois had discovered that her husband, Roger, was truly American in his liking for corn on the cob. At first, in her ignorance, she had thought that any corn would do. But experience had taught her that he wanted only the young and tender ears. He taught her to pull down the husk, look at the kernels and try them with her thumb nail to see whether they were tender and jucy. Only then did he consider corn really good. He knew and told her, too, that corn was never so good as when it was freshly picked from the stalks, brought into the house and put at once into the boiling water. Every hour's time away from the field meant that much less flavor and freshness. Lois had called Nancy years ago to find out how to cook corn on the cob. "It's simple, Lois. Pull off husk. Remove silk. A clean vegetable brush will do that easily. Have large ket. This dish is usually called "Corn a la white is truly attractive. This dish is usually called "Corn a la Mexicaine."

The Colonel Got the Judge Into It And Was First One Fined

Union troops were camped near the base of Kennesaw mountain in the War Between the States. One morning an orderly strode up to a captain's tent which bore a physician's insignia. The captain's name was Landis.

The captain came out and took the telegram which the orderly handed him. His face lighted. A son had been born to his wife at Millville, Ohio. The wire asked if he had any suggestions as to a name.

The captain looked about him. "We'll name him Kenesaw Mountain," he shouted, and wrote the wire. Yesterday I had lunch with Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Out the hotel window I thought I could catch a glimpse of a hazy form that may have been Kennesaw mountain just out from Marietta.

As we sat there with the judge's snowy mane bobbing as he talked, his splendid hands making gesturesthe man is a great actor and would have graced any stage-I kept thinking of that little drama that morning when Sherman was marching to the sea and the haze of burning pine was over the land.

And an orderly carrying a telegram and a young surgeon reading the wire and shouting, "We'll name him Kenesaw

It all seemed rather strange to be sitting down to dinner 68 years later; a few miles from the base of Kennesaw mountain with that son whom the young surgeon had exulted over that morning.

Colonel Tilinghast Huston was there-and Judge Landis close beside him.

"This man got me into baseball," said the Judge, "and the first man I had to fine was him," he said, roaring with laughter as he pointed at Colonel Huston, who was half owner of the Yankees when Judge Kenesaw Landis was called from the federal judge's bench in 1921 to salvage what was left of baseball after the Black Sox had got through with it.

"Judge," asked the Colonel, "do you know how many mer we had covered up when you came in?"

"About 200, I guess," said the Judge, smiling. "Just 45," said the Colonel. "But," he added, "40 of them were no good and they cost me many a to 6-3 Triumph.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(P)—The Giants continued their heavy hitting today to defeat the Braves, 6 to 3, in the first game of a series of three and to give Carl Hubbell his seventeenth mound victory of the season.

The sig blow of the game was Mei Ott's thirtieth homer, which put him still further ahead of all National league rivals and only six circuit swats behind Lou Gehrig, of the Yankees, major league leader.

The clout came off Huck Betts' delivery with the score tied at 1-1 in the sixth inning and started a four-run rally that decided the game. After Ott lined his homer into the lower right-field stands, Phil Weintraub drew a pass and went to third when Pinky Whitney made a wild throw of Travis Jackson's bunt. He scored on Harry Danning's fly. Johnny Vergez then drove one high into tne left-field stands for a homer. That completed the rally and sent Betts to the showers.

The Vergez drive was the Giants' 102d circuit smash of the season as Hughey Critz had pasted the 100th in the first inning. They have played 108 games. New York added its final run off Fred Frankhouse in the seventh when Critz singled, progressed to third on Bill Terry's sacrifice and Ott's grounder and scored on Weintraub's single, which came after Catcher Frank Hogan had dropped a foul that would have been the third out.

Hogan took care of all three Boston runs. He smacked a double in the second to te the score after Wally Berger had singled and Whitney had forced him at second, then drove a homer against the upper stands in the seventh behind a base hit by Whitney.

And regardless of what the judge's foes may say, he is the most valuable asset baseball has today. He gives the game a stability it never had until he became the game's czar.

ONE MAN COURT IS BEST.

A one-man court for baseball is best. A committee of three would be impossible. As Colonel Huston said, "No business can stand the mistakes of more than one man."

A three-man committee would find three minds reaching a compromise agreement. One man makes up but one mind. He makes but one set of mistakes.

Baseball would make a serious mistake to get rid of its present plan—to be ruled by one man whose decisions are not subject to appeal. And as long as Kenesaw Landis continues

The Crackers will return to their home grounds today for a game with Knoxville. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

The club goes back on the road following this one-game stand here. Memphis is the next stop for the Crackers. They play the Chicks four games, starting Sunday.

Monday is an open date for the Crackers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 10.—
The Barons and Crackers played on even terms Friday in the double-header that completed Atlanta's schedule in Birmingham for this year. Each team made a total of 10 hits for the day and each came out with a victory. Jim Lindsey got a beautifully pitched game out of his system in the first game, holding the Barons to one run on four hits as the Crackers won. 3-1. but George Murray, another veteran, squared matters for the Barons in the second game, shutting out the Abbottmen. 3-0. also on four hits. Six hits proved to be enough for the winning team in each game.

Friday's split left Atlanta with 11 victories out of 18 games played with the Barons so far this season. The Barons have a series in Atlanta yet to play.

(P)—Two outstanding products of the University of Texas' famed tennis nursery, Wilmer Allison and Berkley Bell, today won the right to clash for one of the most prized trophies of the furf court game, the historic Longwood bowl.

Allison qualified for his second bowl Allison qualified for his second bowl final since 1928 by defeating his doubles partner of long standing. Johnny Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, 4-8, 8-6, 6-4, 6-1. The shorts-clad Bell, after one of the bravest exhibition ever staged in this ancient tennis shrine, turned back Jack Tidball, of Hollywood, Cal., 8-10, 6-4, 3-6, 11-9, 6-2, after a two and three-quarter hours' nerve-wracking semi-final battle.

BELL ONE UP.

BELL ONE UP.

Allison and Bell grew up together in Austin, Texas, and they have opposed each other so many times that they have lost track of their standings previous to this year. This season they have clashed three times and Bell is one up.

It was a dismal day for Tidball, for when he and Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, lined up against George Lott and Lester Stoefen, in the upper half doubles semi-finals, the United States Davis cup heroes, playing in their first domestic tourney since they won with the national fitles here last year, polished them off to the tune of 6-2, 7-5.

Bell gained his second final with the assistance of Eugene McCauliff, of Yonkers, N. Y. They drew Allison and Van Ryn as their semi-final doubles opponents and more than one set of eyebrows in the gallery was raised when they scored a 14-12, 6-4 upset, just as twilight threatened.

Tied to Wilbert Robinson all through my career and I was deeply shocked at his death. His life story is really the story of baseball since he had been in the game since 1880. But his life was more than that. It was a curious mixture of gentleness and of strength."

Judge Landis spent most of the day with Colonel T. L. Huston, of Butler island, Georgia. Colonel Huston, known to baseball men as "Cap" Huston, veteran of the Spanish-American War and the World War and former half-owner of the Yankees, was perhaps the most intimate friend "Uncle Robby" had. Both were inseparable during the winter months at Dover Hall, their hunting preserve near Brunswick, Ga.

There will be merely simple burial services at Baltimore today. The funeral services were those of yesterday. Pallbearers were:

By FREDERICK GARDNER. NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(P)—Infla-tionary sentiment cooled off in spec-ulative markets today, causing a mod-erate reaction in stocks and commodi-

Bonds, including United States gov ernment issues, had to absorb further liquidation at the expense of prices and elsewhere movements were down-ward. Profit-taking made itself felt ward. Profit-taking made itself felt at the week-end. Overnight study of the government's move to nationalize silver seemed to have convinced markets that its bull-ish significance had been over-empha-

Bized yesterday.

Heavy rains in sections of the drouth-stricken areas of the west served to divert attention from crop loss-ed to divert attention from crop losses. Some commodities, however, attained new tops for the movement before the reaction took hold.

The rush of short-covering touched off by the silver announcement in the previous session appeared to have subsided around the opening. Deprived of that source of buying power, the stock market yielded to a moderate inflow of profit-taking.

Transfers dropped to 772,310 shares compared with 1,416,220 yesterday. The Standard Statistics Co. average for 90 stocks dipped 1.6 points to 70.9.

0.9. Leading staple markets did not have Leading staple markets did not have much difficulty absorbing selling and final losses were moderate in comparison with the preceding advance. Cotton lost 85 cents to $1 a bale. While corn held firm before the government's monthly crop estimate, wheat sold off for a net loss of 1 1-8 to 1 1-2 after the May position in Chicago had touched $1.17, a new high. Other cereals lost fractions to about a cent.

Chicago had touched $1.17, a new high. Other cereals lost fractions to about a cent.

Trading in silver futures remained suspended but a dealer in metals posted a spot price of silver for industrial uses at 49 3-4 cents an ounce, fractionally under the price the government will take over domestic stocks. Unchecked liquidation in railroad bonds, principally second-grade issues, was attributed partly to fear that the uptrend in commodity prices would mean a continued increase in operating expenses to the detriment of net income.

Bank Clearings

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Bank clearings are again substantially higher. The total this week for all leading cities in the United States, as reported to Dun & Bradstreet, Iuc., was $4,086.254,000, which was 4.8 per cent above that for the comparative period a year ago. This is the first time since the week ended June 20 that bank clearings have risen above the comparative 1933 figures. Clearings at New York city amounted to $2,591,614,000, a decrease of only 2.1 per cent, while the aggregate of $1,494.640,000 for all outside centers was higher by 19.3 per cent.

Every city but one outside of New York reported an increase, a record which has not been equalled in a number of months past. Clearings at New York city, where stock speculation a year ago caused heavy bank zettlements during two or three months, were only slightly below those for the preceding year. In part, this was due to the break in stock speculation at that time.

Furthermore, this week's clearings was due to the break in stock speculation at that time.

Furthermore, this week's clearings also cover, in part, the larger amounts payable on the first of the month; the same situation prevailed a year ago. Still, the total this week was below that for the preceding week by $431,792,000, whereas a year ago there was a heavy decline for the same two weeks, amounting to $1,011,132,000. Noteworthy gains this week over last year appear at Boston, Philadelphia. Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Omaha, Richmond, Atlanta, Louisville, Dallas, San Francisco and Portland.

CURB SHARES SAG

By BERNARD S. O'HARA. NEW YORK, Aug. 10 .- (P)-Failing to extend yesterday's rally, the curb market fell back under pressure of profit-taking today.

Some scattered firm spots appeare at the close but declines of fractions to a point or so predominated. Ac-tivity was generally limited transfers slipping back to approximately 146, 000 shares from 202,000 shares yester-

000 shares from 202,000 shares yesterday.

Oils were exceedingly narrow throughout, and a number of the leading members finished unchanged. In the power group Commonwalth Edison pushed up a point, while American Gas & Electric and Electric Bond & Share conceded fractions.

Alcohols were heavy. Hiram Walker sagged nearly 2, while Distillers Corporation-Seagrams lost 1. Metals finished about even.

Swift International, selling ex-dividend, was off a fraction. Aluminum Company of America, Phillip Morris and Singer Manufacturing yielded a point a piece.

'34 TOBACCO CROP SET AT 1,042,942,000 LBS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—Production of tobacco this year in the United States was estimated at 1,042,942,000 pounds today in the agriculture department's crop report, an increase of about 3,400,000 pounds over the estimate a month ago but still more than 300,000,000 pounds below last year's crop.

The estimate of flue-cured production was 527,361,000 pounds, compared with the July estimate of 526,643,000 and the 1933 crop of 737,703,000 pounds.

In spite of the slight change in the estimate of total flue cured yield, there was considerable difference in the estimates for the various types. Figures for eastern North Carolina type dropped about 7,000,000 pounds because tobacco in this district was found to be curing out light.

Drouth in Missouri and in counties near the Ohio river was credited with a drop of more than 3,000,000 pounds in the burley crop estimate from the July forecast of 280,226,000 pounds. Moderate increases over July estimates were indicated in fire-cured types, the total production being esti-mated at 112,996,000 pounds com-pared with 133,353,000 pounds last year.

Among cigar types, the forecast for Pennsylvania seedleaf went from 23, 750,000 pounds in the July report to 25,175,000 pounds and slight increases 25,175,000 pounds, and slight increases were reported also for Connecticut and Miami Valley types and in the Wisconsin district. Total cigar type production was estimated today at 72.568,000 pounds compared with the 1933 crop of 77.998,000 pounds.

Much of the tobacco report was devoted to flue-cured types.

"A crop of good cigaret type tobacco is in prospect," the report said, "subject, however, to possible distribution of late primings resulting from recent rains.

"In type 13, tobacco north of the

"In type 13, tobacco north of the Peedee river appears to be more uniform and of somewhat better quality than south of the river.

"In the middle and old belt of type 11 much of the crop is expected to be of good to excellent quality. Local areas, however, show the effects of hail and drouth during July. Stands in type 11 and 12 show an unusual degree of uniformity, but lack of body seems to characterize the crop."

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(4)—Cotton reacted today under realizing and liquidation. After selling off to 13.72 or 24 points net lower, December rallied to 13.82 on covering and trade buying, but eased off again later and closed at 13.76. The final tone of the market was barely steady with last prices showing net declines of 7 to 20 points.

Active selling during the forenoon forced quotations 22 to 25 points lower with October selling at 13.60 and May 13.93.

This decline brought in increased demand from houses with Liverpool connection and some trade buying and covering, but after showing rallies of about 10 or 12 points from the lowest, the market eased off again. Closing quotations were within 3 or 4 points of the lowest on most positions.

Some southern selling was reported here during the morning, but the pressure was mostly attributed to realizing.

The report of the New York Cotton Exchange Service estimating domestic consumption for July at 355, 600 bales was considered about in line with expectations.

Exports today 5,425, making 90,383 so far this season. Port receipts 11,689. United States port stocks 2,391,230.

The early cables from Liverpool said fresh outside buying and profit-taking had been supplied by realizing and that reports from Manchester indicated buyers of cotton goods were slow to pay higher prices. According to early reports in the spot market here there was a better demand for new crop cotton, especially for October deliveries and sales were improving. Advices from Worth Street indicated that following increased sales late yesterday business in cotton cloth was less active today with traders awaiting further developments.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
DECLINES 21 POINTS
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 10.—(P)—
Cotton prices developed a downward tendency today and lost slightly more than $1 a bale from yesterday's close. Reports of rains in Texas, easiness in outside markets and long liquidation were the main influences behind the easier tone. The close was steady, within a point or two of the bottom and at a net decline of 21 points.

The opening was easier on reports on western rains. Liverpool cables were also lower than due and first trades here showed losses of 9 points.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow, 5 to 6 penny points down.
Port receipts 12,691, for the week 56,280, for season 77,719, last season 104,350. Exports 6,423, for week 59,104, for season 103,657, last season 180,613. Port stock 2,397,530, last year 2,969,242. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 45,030, last year 77,608. Spot sales at southern markets 9,659, last year 13,669.

HALF OF SOVIET GRAINS HARVESTED BY MAY 9

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—(P)—Fiftyone percent of Russia's total grain acreage was harvested by May 9 and 35 per cent of the grain cut has already been threahed, official reports said today. No figures were given showing the yield in bushels.
Collective agencies have already reaped 53 per cent of their grain crops, state farms 42 per cent, and individual farmers 49 per cent of their crops.

Individual farmers 49 per cent of their crops.

Approximately 165,500,000 acres of grain had been harvested May 9. Government officials have repeatedly said the grain yield would equal that of last year, despite drier weather in some sections, because of a better organization for cultivation.

SHOW DECLINE IN JULY
NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(P)—The United States Steel Corporation reported today that its shipments of finished steel in July decreased of 615.390 tons to 369,938 tons against 985.337 in June.

The decrease coincided with the sharp recession in mill operations from the high rate of June.

The corporation's shipments in July,
1933, amounted to 701.322 tons: July,
1932, 272.448, and July, 1931, 593,900.
Shipments for the first seven months of the year were 4.048,833 tons against 2.913,742 in the like period last year.

Tarzan then joined the returning procession of the queen, who was left weak and moody by the sight of blood and torture at the temple rites. At the palace she dismissed her retinue. Then Tar-zan returned to Gemnon's house, because he felt there was grave cause for apprehension, for him-

After sundown, Tarzan swung through the great trees of the city's avenues, so no one would know that he went to the golden temple. He stopped at last in a tree near the rear of the temple, where Phobeg was waiting in the shadows. To the giant's astonishment, Tarsan dropped at his facet.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Then the temple guard related what his sweet-heart Maluma had overheard of the plot of Erot and Tomos. And he told of the secret dungeon beneath the temple floor. "Many victims have died there mysteriously; and soon others will be im-prisoned there!" Phobeg added, with a warning

DAILY SHORT STORY-VACATION

Lou Lane, a Bandmaster, Went to the Country to Find Rest and Found Himself Fighting Fruits of Fame. BY SELMA DIAMOND

Mae Martin was all excitement. New York's most popular orchestra leader, Lou Lane, had leased the house next her father's for the summer. He was coming to Cliftwood for a rest away from the noise and tumult of the city.

During the ride, Mae monopolized the conversation. She told him that the knew everyone who was worth of this opportunity. She was going in claim him for her escort to all of Cliftwood's social functions. It never occurred to her that he really meant it when he said he was coming for a complete rest.

Anxious to begin her claiming, she claiming to the club last night. The whole town is alive with it. You're a celebrity, you know."

Two negro sion and all at the invitation of Mae. Cliftwood was worse than New York. At least New York had sense enough to go easy in the heat, but not Cliftwood. What was the point in coming to a summer resort to rest if it could make one as unhappy as riding in the subway on a sultry day.

Ellen was seated at the wheel of her roadster. She looked cool and happy. Lou wondered how she managed. Then he remembered she was never at the parties he had attended. "Lucky girl," he said to himself. But how did she avoid them? Why, of course, at their first meeting she had said that she hated teas and obviously she made it her business to avoid them. It could be as simple as that for him, too, if he hadn't been ensnared by Mae.

Talmadze has approved Mae.

Ellen saw him coming down the Ellen was the first to speak, "I'm afraid your social career in Cliftwood is ruined."

"Do you really think so," asked Lou eagerly?

"You don't act as though you mind," came from Ellen.

"I don't one bit. I have all the parties I care for in the city. By the way," he asked suddenly, "do you like parties?"

"Of course I do, but I can't stand them in the summer. I hate to have my rouge melting down my cheeks, Whydo you ask?"

"I was worried, I'm glad it is settled now."

"What do you mean, what is settled?"

"Well, my profession demands that I attend many parties and I wouldn't want my wife to stay home alone. At first I was afraid you would insist on staying home."

"Darling," answered the happy Ellen. "I orloss that you kiss me."
